NEW TAXPAYERS' SUIT IS FILED IN BRIDGE CONTROVERSY

A new taxpayers' suit asking that the two Delaware River toll bridges purchased by Burlington County on Oct. 22 be thrown into custodial receivership, was filed yesterday before Judge Robert V. Kinkaid in New Jersey Superior Court.

The taxpayers, Henry S. Haines and Richard J. Lippincott, Democratic Freeholders-elect who obtained restraining orders earlier this month, sought in yesterday's action to have the recent purchase of the Tacony-Palmira and Burlington-Bridges declared "illegal and unconstitutional."

The suit was based on the contention that the effect of the transaction "was to destroy rights of the State and county to acquire the bridges" for $5,000,000 less than the $12,400,000 it cost the county to gain possession of the spans.

Haines and Lippincott also contended that the Burlington County Bridge Commissioners, who were named only minutes before the Burlington County Board of Freeholders approved purchase of the spans, were "unfit to continue as custodians of the bridges."

Counsel for the petitioners averred in their application that the suit was inspired by the "lack of good judgment and haste by the commissioners" in carrying out the $12,400,000 deal in one day.

ARMISTICE DAY DANCE PROVES VERY POPULAR

The Armistice Day dance held by the Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 282, American Legion, at the St. Mark's Hall on Thursday evening, was a success in a big way.

It was very popular with the young folks and was well attended by veterans of both wars. The hall was decorated and additional color was added by the Legion uniforms and caps of a large number of Legionnaires.

Johanny King and his large orchestra were well received by the dancers. The girl vocalist was applauded time and again after each solo.

A popular medley of World War I tunes was warmly received by "The Doughboys of 1917." The polkas had everyone in the hall up on the floor dancing.

Because of very favorable reception, the Legion plans to have a similar dance in the near future.

PASS ORDINANCE DESPITE PROTEST

Final Action, However, Will Not Be Taken Until Later

TITLE IS ADOPTED

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 13 — The protested zoning ordinance was passed on its title Tuesday night but final action was deferred until the next regular meeting.

Two petitions were presented Council, opposing the rezoning of the area surrounded by East Trenton, North Pennsylvania, East Maple and Crown street, which would permit erection of a 22-shop modern shopping district by Thomas B. Stockham 3rd. The rezoning of this sector would make all streets "A business districts with the exception of 150 feet on Crown street, which would be B residential."

One petition was signed by about 30 business men in the Bridge street sector of the borough. The other was signed by about 50 residents near the proposed rezoning site. Both petitions opposed the rezoning on the ground it was strictly a residential site and should remain that way.

Councilman David Talone, in moving that the ordinance be passed on its title, stated that the 22-shop center would be a benefit to the borough.

It was announced that the public utility hearing would be held on the proposed water increases for those served by Morrisville outside the borough limits. The session will be early in December in Doylestown. Willard S. Curtin, Harry H. Lee and William H. Howell were authorized to go to Harrisburg to get additional information in preparing for the hearing.

Tax Collector Neal Nolan stated he would have to have more office space.

News of The Schools: PARENTS VISIT THE TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS

Faculty Delighted Over Attendance During Education Week

SAY ALL BENEFITTED

American Education week was celebrated in the Bristol Township Elementary schools by inviting parents into the school rooms to see the classes in action. Most schools had three days of visitation so that parents could choose the day most convenient for them. Some came for all three days.

This gave the faculty a real opportunity for building, with the citizens of the community, a more effective public relationship. "When teachers and parents of the community can get better acquainted we are making real strides in our philosophy of education. It becomes a cooperative thing and all are benefited. Parents can understand better what we are trying to accomplish," said a member of the faculty.

The theme "Strengthening the Foundations of Freedom" was particularly appropriate this year and highlighted the significance of education and the needs of youth. This of course will follow through the school year.

"It was particularly gratifying to learn that some parents took the day off from jobs to see the regular work of our schools going on. There were 265 parents who came to the schools some staying all day and others who came for awhile in the morning and returned in the afternoon. To hear remarks that they had a delightful time and even learned and understood better what we are trying to do was very good to know," continued the spokesman.

While the usual work of the classes went on there were some special things to interest parents. Miss Hoffman, a reading expert demonstrated just how reading is taught today at the different levels and how an effort is made to develop this thinking process which reading really is. Representative of a radio station told beautiful stories of worth while literary value to other classes. A play was presented by students. "We hope parents got value from their experiences with the children and teachers," concluded the spokesman.

A panel discussion in reading was held at the Edgely school one evening, in which parents took a very active part. "We like this cooperation of the parents and really thank them for showing their concern and interest," it was stated by another faculty member.

SAMPLE HOUSE IS MECCA FOR HUNDREDS

Modern Contemporary Design Proves To Be Very Attractive

IS VERY CONVENIENT

Things are happening at Glenn Ashton Farms these days. Reporters and photographers from metropolitan newspapers and of architects magazines of national circulation, along with hundreds of persons interested in the designing and building of houses are flocking to the section to view what is termed "an unusual house." Last Sunday, according to Howard Leister, one of the developers of the tract "we clocked 100 visitors."

Keen interest is attached to the sample house at Glenn Ashton Farms, Bensalem township, Newportville Rd., Route 113. It is of brick construction, bungalow type, built on the solar system with glass-front southern exposure, and warmed with radiant heat.

At this modern house, furnished in modern style, and with emphasis on "convenience," hundreds of visitors have exclaimed over the cheerfulness of the rooms, the unique cantilever type, stone fire-place which accommodates a four-foot log; and the fact that each of the two bedrooms has its own outside door (particularly useful for exit to patios for complete sun bathing if desired).

The house boasts of ample closet space, asphalt tile flooring in a soft green tone throughout which is a boon to housekeepers; and has a car-park with protection from north and west winds (the walls lined with tool closets.)

Upon entering the front door, the visitor first notes the amplexness of the 26 x 30 foot space which marks the living-dining room. Spot-lighted from the ceiling are the fireplace, the dining-table (gay with la-hala place mats from Hawaii, and gray and rose toned dishes); and the attractive credenza made at the Leister & Leister mill on the property, of walnut and pine, legs being of ash. The walnut dining-table, in natural finish, was also made at the Leister mill, as are also two table lamps (wood sections for which are cut from bowling pins.) A double Japanese prayer table serves as a coffee table; and an open work shelf between the kitchen and living-room affords views from both directions of gay pieces of pottery or bric-a-brac in the modern trend. CROYDON SCOUTS TO COUNT INHABITANTS

Will Enumerate The Residents and Also The People In Area

A WORTHWHILE JOB

CROYDON, Nov. 13 — Many people have asked the question "I wonder how many houses we have in Croydon?" or "How many people live in the Croydon area?" No one seems to know, so the Croydon Business Men's Association suggested that an actual count be made through a survey.

Troop No. 80, Boy Scouts of America, of which "Bud" Hamilton, is Scoutmaster, agreed to take this work on as a civic project.

It is asked that everyone in the Croydon area cooperate with the boys in furnishing the following information:

Family name of owner or tenant, number of persons over 21 years of age, number of persons under 21 years of age, lot numbers of the property.

The latter information is asked for so that through proper authorities the houses in the Croydon area can be properly numbered, which is what most every house owner desires.

Furthermore, Croydon has so grown that application for house-to-house delivery of mail is contemplated and house numbers will be required.

This is a worthwhile job the boys have agreed to undertake. Let's all encourage them in this effort.

Limits Picket Line To 10 Spaced 10 Feet Apart

A TEMPORARY RULING

Decree to Remain in Effect Until Final Decree Is Entered

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 13 — A preliminary order was issued late yesterday by President Judge Hiram H. Keller in the court action between the Paterson Parchment Paper Company and those on strike at the plant.

The substance of the order is that the picket line is limited to ten in a single line at any one time. They must be spaced not less than 10 feet apart so as not to block any of the entrances to the plant to those on foot, in automobiles or in trucks, or to prevent any desiring entering or leaving the place.

The court decreed that this order shall not be construed as to requiring any employee to return to work if he does not so desire.

This order is to continue until the final decree shall have been entered.

The order was arrived at in the judge's chambers where attorneys for both sides sat around a conference table. It is believed that the issuing of the order will lead to a more amicable situation between all parties concerned.

Both sides rested yesterday in the Paterson Parchment Paper Company strike case that has been in hearing in equity court here before President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

The company's side of the case was completed last week while the defendants were heard yesterday.

The Tullytown plant of the Paterson Parchment company has been on strike since August 20th.

The case has been set for argument for Wednesday morning, Nov. 24.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Paul H. Gleichman
Pastor
Zion Lutheran Church

Eternal and almighty God, before Whose power we bow in speechless awe and wonder, and before Whose might we acknowledge the weakness and frailty, the ignorance and impotence of men: we thank Thee that Thou hast not left us without divine resource, that Thou hast not left us to perish in darkness and helplessness, but in Thine infinite goodness and wisdom hast shown us the way to Thee and hast promised to implement, with Thy power, the feeble efforts of our humanity. In the Name of Him Who revealed Thy matchless power and might, even Christ, the Lord, Amen.

ST. ANN'S SEEKS TO AVENGE DEFEAT; TO PLAY LANGHORNE

Seeking to avenge the setback of last season, St. Ann's A. A. will play the Langhorne Aces tomorrow afternoon on the Langhorne-Middletown high school field.

The Aces surprised the fans of this area last season when its well drilled nine conquered the "Saints" 13-0 in a well-played game. Prior to that tilt, St. Ann's had been unbeaten and Langhorne went on to win the mythical independent championship of Flower Bucks County.

St. Ann's has been brooding over that defeat and has anxiously waited for the 1948 season to roll around to get back at the boys of Coach "Johnny" Mesics, former Temple University player.

Mesics and his T-formation had the St. Ann's team in circles last season and with his exponent, "Buck" Reed, still handling the ball from the quarterback, expects to give the purple and gold plenty of trouble. The other Langhorne ball-carriers are Dick Lukens, Cassidy, and Spadacino.

It is most likely that the starting ends for the Bristol team will be Stan Lelinski and Howard Keys. "Carm" Gullatto and "Al" Sozio will be the tackles with "Tom" Profy and Ted Sak being the guards. "Jim" Rue will be at center. In the backfield will be Mickey Stradling, the pitching quarterback, "Bill" Marion, "Reds" Schreiner, and Joe Myernich.

Starting linemen for the Aces will most likely be: Ends, Claus and Adair; tackles, Arner and Johnson; guards, Simon and Clark; center, E. Salvador.

Sample House Is Mecca For Hundreds

pedestals of dark woods have their places in the living-room for modern pieces of wood sculpture.

The thick Chestnut Hill stone walls on the one side of each room are color-contrasted by reflected tones from gay window draperies which may be opened or drawn too at will, to afford more privacy. Some walls are of screeded ply-wood, others of gum, walnut or mahogany.

Practically everything in the house is built or arranged to serve a dual purpose. In the bath-room, of rose and gray tile, with maroon trim, a dressing table is built about the wash-bowl. This room boasts of both a tub and shower. Ample shelf space, at convenient height, provides a place for bathing this baby.

Chief features of the bed-rooms are the cedar-lined closets. Blanket storage space is provided by means of an ingenious wall closet where the head of the double bed will be in one bedroom. The second will be equipped with twin beds. Ward-ropes and dressing tables are of the built-in type, all woods harmonizing with the room interiors.

Ceilings throughout are of co-tex, and all rafters are visible in a pleasing dark finish. The roof of the modern dwelling is of Vermont slate. The house is open for public inspection.

GOODWILL TEAM TO PLAY SHAMROCKS IN PHILA., SUNDAY

After a week's layoff, the Goodwill Hose team will swing into action again tomorrow afternoon, meeting the Shamrocks, of Philadelphia. The game will be played on the Shamrocks' field, 26th and Mifflin streets, starting at 2:15 o'clock.

Manager Bob Hughes, of the hosemen, requests all players to report to the fire house at 11:45 a. m., at which time the bus will leave for the game.

Goodwill's log shows four wins, two defeats, and a tie. The fire-eaters won over Elm A. C., Bordentown Manual, Palmyra, and Langhorne. Clayton and Lambertville scored close wins over the firemen, while the tied game was with Bordentown Manual in a return fracas.

Coach Joe Roe's team was handicapped with injuries against Lambertville, but he hopes most of the players will be in top form for the Shamrocks. Against Lambertville, Tommy Holden sustained a leg injury but he feels certain that he will be in action against the Philadelphia club.

Coach Roe will most likely start the following lineup: Ends, Coyne and Harms; tackles, "Lou" and "Al" Iannucci; guards, Buster Monachello and Luke Wade; center, Claude Distler; backs, Joe Elmer, Brady, Stiles, and Holden.

the picket line and was not interfered with. De Wilde testified that he has worked for the company for 49 years. The witness stated that no passes are now required by the union to get on the grounds of the company's plant.

Walter Oserdzuk corroborated the previous witness.

The defendants rested at this point.

Rex A. Daggett, regional director of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, was called for additional cross-examination yesterday by the paper company's attorney.

"Do you know what 'Perfectly Paralyzed Plant' means?" Daggett was asked by the company's attorney. He was reading a headline from the union newspaper, The Paper Maker, which carried a detailed story of the strike at the Paterson-Parchment plant.

Peter Pearce, of Bristol, recording secretary of the Bristol Local No. 506, testified that he did not urge fellow-workers not to go back to work at the paper plant.
